ONE OF THREE ROUTES TO BE SELECTED FOR GREAT MACADAM HIGHWAY TO BE BUILT ACROSS MISSOURI FROM ST. LOUIS TO KANSAS CITY.

Map showing the routes selected by President Moore of the National Good Roads Association. One of these roads, in all probability, will form the cross-State pike of Missouri.

Plans for a public highway across the deal to do with the course the road will state of Missouri, between St. Louis and Kansas City, are virtually completed, and, Not a cent will be paid for this right of according to W. H. Moore, president of the National Good Roads Association, work probably will begin upon the roadway early next spring.

IN NEIGHBORING CITIES.

Not a cent will be paid for this right of way, it is said, as the roadway will in itself be sufficient compensation in en-

National Good Roads Asociation, work probably will begin upon the roadway early next spring.

President Moore has traversed every foot of ground between here and Kansas City several times on tours of inspection, and has marked out three distinct highways, any one of which, he thinks, will suit the purposes of the people of the State and redound greatly to the benefit or Missouri. The project has been a cherished one ever since the National Convention of Good Roaders was held in Chicago, in 1800. At that time the feasibility of building a cross-State road was discussed by Missourians, and President Moore was asked to use his best efforts to make the undertaking successful.

He will start for Washington shortly to confer with Government Road Commissioners to Missouri to traverse the proposed routes and to give his opinion as to which route would be the best.

Agents of the National Good Roads Association are now sounding the various counties as to the right of way, and this, of course, will have, in a measure, a great Roadway No. 3, according to the plans. Would leave St. Louis via the Manchester road as far as Glencoe, Mo. Instead of curving northward to Hermann, however, the route shoots straight westward for Jefferson City. Tipton, Sedalia, Warrensburg and Lee's Summit. From Summit the roadway turns north and slightly west with Independence as its destination, and then follows proposed roadway No. 1 into Kansas City. This route is 23 miles long.

As proposed the roadway will be 100 feet wide throughout its course. While it is to be built primarily for stability it is also the purpose of the projectors to make it one of the most beautiful highways of the world.

ty-four feet wide will form the principal roadbed, but clay wagon paths will paralcourse of the road water slulces are to be made for drainage. Between these slulces and the fences a wide plank walk for pedestrians is also to be laid and between the slulces and the walk trees are to be planted for shade.

These trees are to be planted by persons living along the route of the roadway, according to a clause in the agreement, which will be drawn up between the projectors and the officials of the counties through which the road passes.

According to the calculations of Mr.

six counties have material from which the road can be construced.

The cost of the road is not to exceed $3.900 a mile, which will bring the total cost when completed in the neighborhood of $900,000.

The north river and south contour routes will cross eleven counties. The third route, which virtually takes a route adjacent to the Missouri Pacific tracks, crosses ten counties.

President Moore hopes that a highway commission will be appointed at the next meeting of the Legislature. This, it is said, would materially facilitate the progress of the work. This committee should be of three men, one a practical engineer, who could lay out the work at Jefferson City and distribute it to the various counties.

ty-four feet wide will form the principal roadbed, but clay wagon paths will parallel the main roadway on both sides for dry weather. Between the dirt roadbeds and the fences which will follow the course of the road water sluices are to be made for drainage. Between these sluices and the fences a wide plank walk for pedestrians is also to be laid and between the sluices and the walk trees are to be planted for shade.

These trees are to be planted by persons living along the route of the roadway, according to a clause in the agreement, which will be drawn up between the projectors and the officials of the counties through which the road passes.

TO TRY FOR LIVE-STOCK CONVENTION HERE IN 1904.

ocal Exchange Out for Meeting and to Do All Things Possible.

The St. Louis exchange is out for the convention of the National Live-Stock Exchange in 1904. The report of the board, submitted yesterday, stated that the delegation which would attend this year's meeting at Fort Worth, Tex., November 19, would do everything possible to bring the meeting here.

The meeting was held at the exchange hall, National Stock Yards. For the fourth successive time Albert L. Keechler, one of the most prominent citizens of East St. Louis, and a man who has been identified with many public projects, was elected president. James Simcock was elected president and T. C. Wells, W. W. Stewart and E. E. Overstreet direc-tors elected vice president and T. C. Wells, W. W. Stewart and E. E. Overstreet directors.

The growth of the live-stock business of St. Louis within the last few years has been phenomenal and the report of the Board of Directors, which was submitted, showed that the business continues on the increase. Receipts of cattle, hogs and horses and mules so far this year are shown to have made liberal increases, although a small deficit is exhibited in the sheep department. The report dealt in a measure with the conditions existing during the recent flood and showed the liberality which had been practiced by stockmen in relieving the distress of the citizens of East St. Louis.

In noting the increased volume of business the report made mention of some record-breaking receipts in several departments of the trade during the present year and showed that the trade was expanding to such an extent that, although vast improvements have been made from time to time, it will be necessary to further increase them to properly carry on the business.

A comparison of receipts shows a total for cattle this year up to November 1 of 1.45.043 head, against 1,066,483 head during the same period last year. Of hogs the total has been 1.537.940, compared with 1.41.729 head, and of horses and mules 124.417, against 107.012 head. Sheep receipts have been 433.446 head, compared with 488,487 head last year.

A report from the traffic department was appended showing that the receipts have grown until the capacity of the market is taxed to its utmost, but promising large extensions as quickly as they can be made. It also showed that shipments had been drawn from new territory, notably Colorado, where large numbers of range tattle are raised. It also showed a satisfactory condition as to the relation of the market to the various railroads, and quoted numerous instances of reductions in rates in favor of this market.

ELVADEAN HAYES AWARDED TO HER GRANDMOTHER.

Year-Old Daughter for Her Possession Decided.

The habeas corpus suit brought by Joseph P. Hayes against his wife Carrie for possession of their 5-year-old daugh ter, Elvadean, resulted yesterday in Cir cuit Judge Blevins awarding the custody of the child to its mother, the girl to b turned over to her grandmother, Mrs. L. F. Cordner, of Mexico, Mo.

The trial of the case, which was begun last Friday, lasted all yesterday. Hayes last Friday, lasted all yesterday. Hayes and his wife testified, each seeking to convince the court that the other is not a fit person to have the child. Many other witnesses testified on both sides.

It was after 6 p. m. when the case was submitted, and Judge Blevins decided it ammediately.

The fact, the Judge said, that Hayes had left his wife in 1893, and for three years had not supported the child, was a bar to her custody being awarded to him. Neither would the Judge give the girl to her mother absolutely.

Mrs. Hayes's mother has had the child nearly all of the time, and she will be well taken care of by her, the Judge said.

Hayes will be allowed to see his daughter, provided he contributes in a reasonable manner towards her support.

When Judge Blevins announced the order Hayes called out:

"But, Judge, they treat me mean."

Deputy Sheriff Benjamin Heet called upon him to keep order.

Judge Blevins told Hayes that if he was not treated properly he could go to any Judge in Mexico and he would see that he Judge Bievins told Hayes that if he was not treated properly he could go to any Judge in Mexico and he would see that he was allowed to see the child, or it would be taken away from the persons in whose charge it was placed.

Attorney Jephtha Howe, who represented Mrs. Hayes, informed the court that the wishes of the court would be carried out.

Mrs. Hayes, who lives with her parents, was almost overcome with joy on learning that she would not be parted from her that she would not be parted from her daughter.

She and her husband were married in April, 1888. They separated a couple of times. She sued for diverce, but dismissed it. They went to live together recently in Mexico. He took the child and came to St. Louis. His wife followed and obtained possession of the girl.

POLICE PICKINGS ARE SOLD. Thousands Articles Disposed of

at Annual Auction.

Unidentified articles taken in by the police in the courts of a year were sold to the highest bidders at Selkirk's Chouteau Avenue Auction-house yesterday. The crowd was large, the auctioneer was a hard worker and nearly all the purchasers went away satisfied.

chasers went away satisfied.

The variety of articles was not as large this year as in times past, and there was an unusual shortage in the supply of junk. In former years, there has been a great quantity of lead pipe, wire of many kinds and other staples that catch the eye of the junk dealer. This year there was very little of this heavier material, of which the police generally have a good supply on hand after tweive months' work.

Eight bundles of harness were sold. Some of these bundles contained more than one set of harness; sôme did not contain even a set. The purchaser didn't know whether he was getting the best or the worst of the bargain. He had to take his chances.

A great deal of the plunder was stored in large sacks. The contents of the sacks were not stated, but the stuff was offered at auction, and the bidders had to trust to luck. Some of them got bargains; some of them got very close to what the little boy shot at.

Ben Selkirk, the auctioneer, said the variety was smaller than usual, but even so, there were a thousand articles of fered. In the assortment were about fifty revolvers, about 200 pocket knives, seventeen razors, two corsets, six dresses, fifteen men's shirts, eleven hats, three hammers, three saws, four bottles of permers. The variety of articles was not as large Levee, near here, for $25,000.

The flood last June, when the Mississippi was higher here than it had been for a century, broke the levee at a point where the railroad dump was used as a part of the levee. Several thousand acres of rich bottom land was inundated at that time. The railroad bridged the break which was about 700 feet long, with a temporary piling structure, and the high water of this month through this break again flooded the land, ruining the newly sown wheat.

The railroad agrees with the Levee Commissioners to fill this in permanently and to raise its tracks about three feet where they form a part of the levea, and to have it completed by January 1.
